the Defender®
CHILDREN'S HEALTH DEFENSE NEWS & VIEWS

Million $ Match! Donate Now to Maximize Your Impact!

03/12/24 • COVID › NEWS

Harvard Fires Professor Who Co-wrote Great Barrington Declaration

Epidemiologist Martin Kulldorff, Ph.D., an outspoken critic of COVID-19 lockdown policies, school closures and vaccine mandates since early in the pandemic, on Monday said he was fired from his position at Harvard University.

By Brenda Baletti, Ph.D.

65

Miss a day, miss a lot. Subscribe to The Defender's Top News of the Day. It's free.

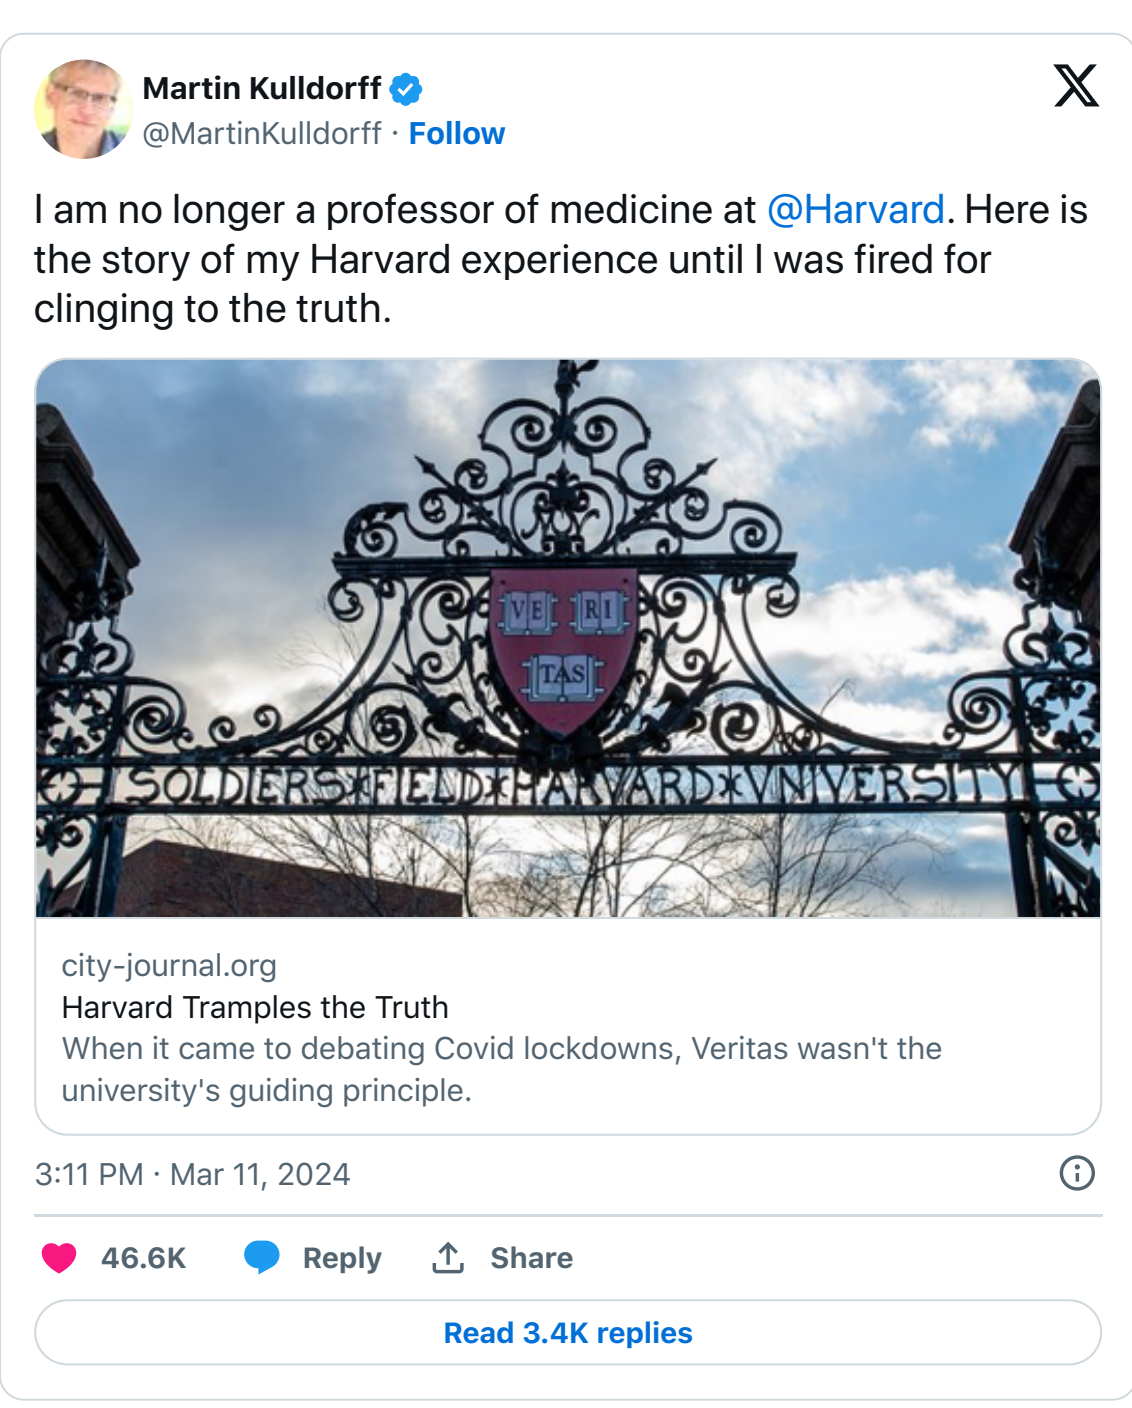
Martin Kulldorff, Ph.D., an epidemiologist and professor of Medicine at Harvard University, on Monday confirmed the university fired him.

Kulldorff has been a critic of lockdown policies, school closures and vaccine mandates since early in the COVID-19 pandemic. In October 2020, he published the Great Barrington Declaration, along with co-authors Oxford epidemiologist Sunetra Gupta, Ph.D., and Stanford epidemiologist and health economist Jay Bhattacharya, M.D., Ph.D.

In an essay published Monday in City Journal, Kulldorff wrote that his anti-mandate position got him fired from the Mass General Brigham hospital system, where he also worked, and consequently from his Harvard faculty position.

Kulldorff detailed how his commitment to scientific inquiry put him at odds with a system that he alleged had "lost its way."

"I am no longer a professor of medicine at Harvard," Kulldorff wrote. "The Harvard motto is Veritas, Latin for truth. But, as I discovered, truth can get you fired."



Martin Kulldorff
@MartinKulldorff · Follow

I am no longer a professor of medicine at @Harvard. Here is the story of my Harvard experience until I was fired for clinging to the truth.

city-journal.org
Harvard Tramples the Truth
When it came to debating Covid lockdowns, Veritas wasn't the university's guiding principle.

3:11 PM · Mar 11, 2024

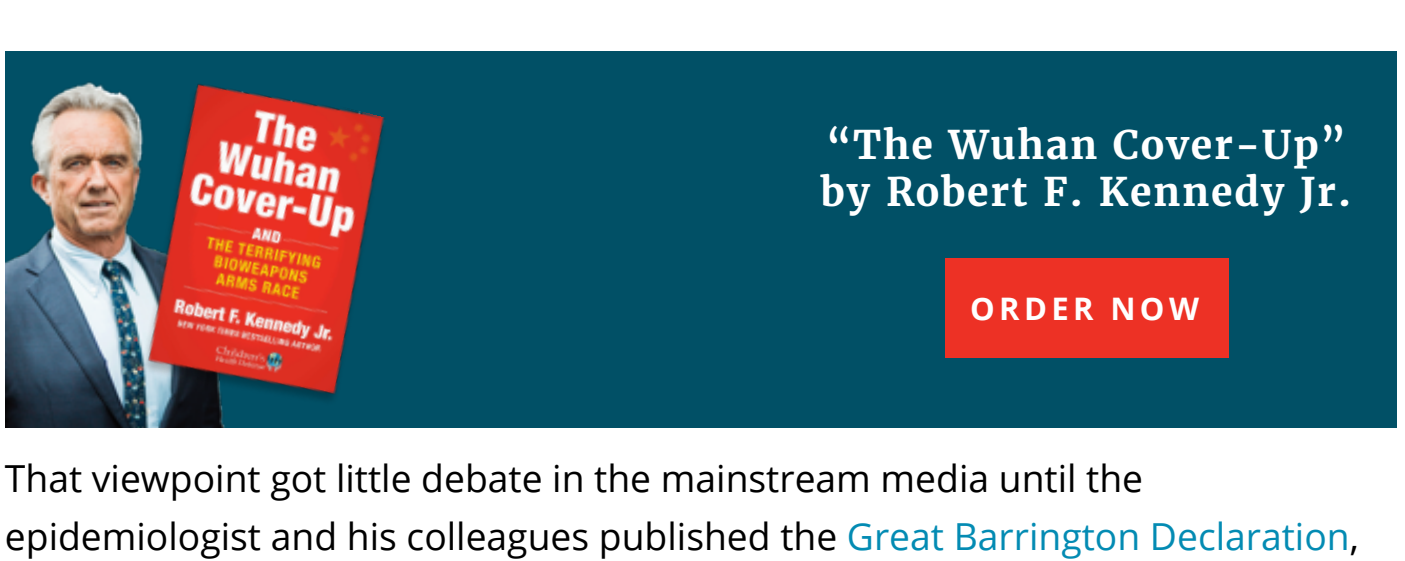
46.6K Reply Share

Read 3.4K replies

He noted that it was clear from early 2020 that lockdowns would be futile for controlling the pandemic.

"It was also clear that lockdowns would inflict enormous collateral damage, not only on education but also on public health, including treatment for cancer, cardiovascular disease, and mental health," Kulldorff wrote.

"We will be dealing with the harm done for decades. Our children, the elderly, the middle class, the working class, and the poor around the world — all will suffer."



"The Wuhan Cover-Up" by Robert F. Kennedy Jr.

ORDER NOW

That viewpoint got little debate in the mainstream media until the epidemiologist and his colleagues published the Great Barrington Declaration, signed by nearly 1 million public health professionals from across the world.

The document made clear that no scientific consensus existed for lockdown measures in a pandemic. It argued instead for a "focused protection" approach for pandemic management that would protect high-risk populations, such as elderly or medically compromised people, and otherwise allow the COVID-19 virus to circulate among the healthy population.

Although the declaration merely summed up what previously had been conventional wisdom in public health, it was subject to tremendous backlash. Emails obtained through a Freedom of Information Act request revealed that Dr. Francis Collins, then-director of the National Institutes of Health called for a "devastating published takedown" of the declaration and of the authors, who were subsequently slandered in mainstream and social media.

Collins and other figures, including Dr. Rochelle Walensky who would go on to head up the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) during the pandemic, sought to undermine their credibility, Kulldorff wrote.

His tweets contradicting CDC policy that people with natural immunity must be vaccinated were flagged by the Virality Project, a government front group, and censored by Twitter (now X).

"At this point, it was clear that I faced a choice between science or my academic career," Kulldorff wrote. "I chose the former. What is science if we do not humbly pursue the truth?"

RFK Jr. and Brian Hooker's New Book: "Vax-Unvax"

Kulldorff said he was also fired from the CDC COVID-19 Vaccine Safety Technical Work Group because he disagreed with the decision to completely pause the Johnson & Johnson adenovirus COVID-19 vaccine after a safety signal was detected for blood clots in women under 50.

He spoke out in op-eds and social media to argue the Johnson & Johnson shot should remain available for older Americans alongside the Pfizer and Moderna shots — the only other shots available in the U.S. market.

While Kulldorff's arguments advocating the Johnson & Johnson vaccines may be flawed, investigative journalist Jordan Schachtel wrote today on his Substack, Kulldorff's story reveals a "more powerful truth."

"He found out the hard way that there is no crossing the tracks of the institutional freight train that is the Big Pharma-Government Health system of institutional capture that persists in America today," Schachtel wrote.

"He threatened the gravy train that produced hundreds of billions of lawsuit-protected taxpayer dollars that were making their way to Pfizer and Moderna," Schachtel added. "And for that sin, he was swiftly removed from his role on the CDC working group."

Harvard also denied Kulldorff's vaccine exemption requests. He publicly opposed the Harvard mandates and pushed for the university to rehire those who were fired and to eliminate its mandate for students.

The university last week dropped its COVID-19 mandate for students.

"Veritas has not been the guiding principle of Harvard leaders," Kulldorff concluded. "Nor have academic freedom, intellectual curiosity, independence from external forces, or concern for ordinary people guided their decisions."

To right the wrongs that have been done, he said, the broader scientific community must restore academic freedom and end "cancel culture."

"Science cannot survive in a society that does not value truth and strive to discover it," he wrote. "The scientific community will gradually lose public support and slowly disintegrate in such a culture."

Harvard Medical School did not respond to The Defender's request for comment.

Subscribe to The Defender – It's Free!

First Name.. Last Name.. Email.. SIGN UP

SUGGEST A CORRECTION

Brenda Baletti, Ph.D.
Brenda Baletti, Ph.D., is a senior reporter for The Defender. She wrote and taught about capitalism and politics for 10 years in the writing program at Duke University. She holds a Ph.D. in human geography from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and a master's from the University of Texas at Austin.

Sign up for free news and updates from Children's Health Defense. CHD focuses on legal strategies to defend the health of our children and obtain justice for those injured. We can't do it without your support.

Republishing Guidelines

Children's Health Defense Comment Policy
We welcome relevant and respectful comments. Off-topic comments may be removed.
Please read our Comment Policy before commenting.

Got it

65 Comments Login

Join the discussion…

LOG IN WITH OR SIGN UP WITH DISQUS

Name

6 • Share Best Newest Oldest

David Goldberg
a month ago
Thanks for being strong and putting truth above all else Dr. Kulldorff. You're a total hero!
32 0 Reply

notaluvvie
a month ago
Just can't have those dissenting opinions or the truth get to students can we? How very Stalinist of Harvard and the medical-industrial complex.
28 0 Reply

Jerry Alatalo
a month ago
Although the declaration merely summed up what previously had been conventional wisdom in public health, it was subject to tremendous backlash. Emails obtained through a Freedom of Information Act request revealed that Dr. Francis Collins, then-director of the National Institutes of Health called for a "devastating published takedown" of the declaration and of the authors, who were subsequently slandered in mainstream and social media.

*

The same individuals who commanded the mRNA bioweapons global mass murder crime spree are desperate after becoming pushed far into a corner with an army of attorneys closing in for prosecutions. The prosecutions must come immediately, because when one looks around the world, it becomes clear the desperate mass murderers are planning World War III as their only path of escape from prosecution (death penalty).
27 0 Reply

striketheroot → Jerry Alatalo
a month ago edited
Oy! Wasn't it the Harvard "donors/owners" who got their DEI president canned because she didn't "handle" the Palestinian kerfuffle properly/ There must be a legal clause at Harvard that says " you will do nothing to hurt our profits or endowment fund or that pisses off our donors.
26 1 Reply

Beckie
a month ago edited
As a tenured professor, I hope he brings a lawsuit against Harvard and the hospital for unlawful termination, whether he wants to remain there in the future or not. He has the clout to shine a spotlight on some of the gross injustices perpetrated on people by supposedly illustrious institutions, as well as to challenge exactly what it means to be a doctor.
24 0 Reply

Alison → Beckie
a month ago
Science was lost long ago. At least in the last decades, of which I have personal experience, you get university jobs and promotions by agreeing with the current fashion. Depending on the discipline, that is dictated by an ideological clique (the social sciences) or big money (biology, medicine, etc). This is all of course after you have pleased the right people by not outing their scientific frauds.

This professor wasn't the first to go and won't be the last. Good science is found in the margins, usually not the tenures.
16 0 Reply

Beatrice → Alison
a month ago
Such a shame. I too have experience in biology and medicine but I emerged from the old crop of the early 80's when we had to work VERY HARD just to get a C!!! I worked at an ivy league college a few years ago in the bio dept. and it was very different than what I had experienced. Most of the grad students lacked critical thinking, were coddled and self absorbed. The critical thinking crisis was so dire that one of the professors made it a requirement that they had to attend his critical thinking class once a week. These are the scientists of today. G-d help us all.
10 0 Reply

Alison → Beatrice
a month ago
I've heard from present-day biology students that they take a test for ethics when they apply for a job in Big Pharm. If they're too ethical, they get filtered out.
6 0 Reply

Beatrice → Alison
a month ago
That happened to me!!! -- Not at a pharmacy but at a Garden Center!!!! They gave me the Myers-Briggs personality test tailored to their business and the results indicated that I was "too" honest and ethical. UNREAL!! They didn't believe such favorable results and thought I was lying. Once they reached out to my former employers which included museum directors, doctors and professors who told them that I was extremely honest, they offered me the job but I declined because I didn't feel comfortable working for a company that was so paranoid, distrusting and projecting their own dishonesty on to others. Through the years I've met people who worked for this garden center and they were all ' stupid' about botany, soils, horticulture, plants, etc.. and I realized that the company was training employees to only know minimal or certain facts (many untrue) that would sell plants and other products.

The sad f'n truth about our American corporate environment today is that if you're not willing to stab your best friend in the back to get ahead, they are not interested in you. They are not looking for long term loyalty either and have no desire to invest in their employees. They want people who only stick with jobs for a few months. This is why I am an endangered species in this country.
6 0 Reply

Turtlewax → Beatrice
a month ago
Beatrice - Do you know any good resources to learn more about soil & nutrition requirements for the garden? I seem to be able to only find "bits" and "pieces" but no real useful resource.
0 0 Reply

Craig Kavanaugh → Turtlewax
a month ago
----- International Ag Labs -----

The following site is one of the best resources available online for restoring the soil in order to grow amazing organic nutrient-dense plants. They offer free informational resources, multiple 30-day free email courses, reliable affordable weak-acid soil testing and remedial recommendations, as well as great natural soil restoration products and even custom blends of soil nutrients and amendments...

International Ag Labs main site:
aglabs.com

Growing a Garden for Optimal Nutrition (free 30-day email mini-course):

see more
0 0 Reply

Beatrice → Turtlewax
a month ago
The first place I would consult is your local extension agency through your county or city. They are the extension office of a state or local university. They have all sorts of free advice and handouts. You can take them a composite soil sample of your garden (sample several areas of the garden and mix together in a bucket) and give it to them to test and they will tell you everything you need to know about what amendments you need based on what you want to grow. They may even send the agent out to your garden to provide advice if you ask.

I use organic fertilizers that contain mycorrhizae bacteria when possible. The brands I use for just about everything are Espoma, Fox Farm Happy Frog. Hope that helps!
0 0 Reply

Turtlewax → Beatrice
a month ago
I remember well in 8th grade science class, no one else had the courage to stand up against the lies of evolution in the classroom. I went head to toe against the 'establishment' and took the fight all the way to the principal and won. The principal decided that on all tests that claimed evolution was the source of life had to accept creation theory as a valid answer as well. This is the only way to right the wrongs is to stand up and expose the lies for what they are. Evolution made zero scientific sense but it does make sense for selective adaptation. Climate change also does not make sense as a volcano releases far more green house gasses and "warming" heat. The only reason those bad theories take center stage is because the powers that be don't want to admit that they must answer to the creator of everything, God. Heaven help us!
3 0 Reply

Beatrice → Turtlewax
a month ago
PS...I remember in the 80's how everyone was terrified of global warming and the greenhouse gasses. I sort of got on board with that thinking but as I've matured and educated myself, it become clear that most of these terrifying scenarios are conjured up by people who want to profit from it (and control humanity). The real problem with over-population is that we've dumbed down at least two generations who lack ingenuity. Even big tech is going to become obsolete. Look at the ridiculous changes they make on our software and devices. Nothing better than I can think of. Everything resembles putting a different color of lipstick on the same pig anymore.
3 0 Reply

Beatrice → Turtlewax
a month ago
Well, I'll have to disagree with you on the evolution theory but I completely understand why you would doubt it. I've doubted it many times. Funny thing...when I was in college and took an Evolution class and told everyone that I believed in G-d, they were shocked!!! Show me any living thing that doesn't evolve or hasn't evolved to adapt. The way I view evolution is that it's G-d's recipe for creation on earth. He gave us the perfect recipe but also gave us the choice to add or delete ingredients which would alter outcomes. That's my over-simplified version. In my opinion humans are devolving into a species that I can't relate to anymore.
1 0 Reply

Craig Kavanaugh → Turtlewax
a month ago
Fascinating sermon on the biblical basis for Living Soils:

----- The Biblical Science Behind Restoring the Earth -----

Bro. Thom Mayer: God's Farm:
https://www.audioverse.org/...

see more
0 0 Reply

lanainutahdesert → Alison
a month ago
See Dr. Steven Greer on Amazon for such documentaries as The Lost Century. After seeing his work, you will see precisely what has taken place in this country (and is still taking place).
3 0 Reply

Beckie → Alison
a month ago
I know - my husband is a tenured chemistry professor. I still hope he sues.
2 0 Reply

QuentonQuale → Alison
a month ago
Yes, Harvard pulls in a lot of money from pharma and don't need anyone stopping the money train. Science is now completely captured by politics. We are witnessing that with the climate change fraud as well as all mainstream medicine. Both highly profitable for a select few while putting chains on the masses.
1 0 Reply

GarySummers → Beckie
a month ago edited
"Universities received COVID stimulus funds in 2020, from Congress, IRS", under the stipulation that they would enforce Vaccine Mandates and hit certain thresholds for numbers Vaccinated. Even though the Vaccine does not meet the historic Definition of a Vaccine.

Some people had their Religious Exemptions granted while others did not. No explanation as to why.

Any law firm with any guts would make a LOT of money. However, our DOJ would probably have them disbarred before things could get rolling.

"SV40, a DNA Altering, Carcinogenic Contaminant, found in Pfizer's COVID-19 Vaccines" https://expose-news.com/202...

"Potential health risks of mRNA-based vaccine therapy: A hypothesis"
If our hypothesis were to be confirmed, the implications for public health would be staggering and appalling in the context of the mass-scale COVID-19 vaccination already taking place, particularly if the nms-mRNA enters brain [82], bone marrow [84], and – if already present in the vaccinee – cancerous or pre-cancerous cells [143], or if the vaccine is administered to females early in their pregnancy and the nms-mRNA transfects embryonic cells [77].
https://www.ncbi.nlm.nih.go...
2 0 Reply

A. Miller
a month ago
Now we know big pharma and people like Gates probably control Harvard. Harvard has just sided with the murderers. Way to go Harvard. We guess you don't give a crap about people or your reputation.
19 0 Reply

brbg → A. Miller
a month ago
Not just Harvard many, such as John's Hopkins, did the same.
9 0 Reply

Beatrice → brbg
a month ago edited
My niece is at Johns Hopkins right now getting her PhD and it sickens me to see what that school has turned into and how it has affected her. She is now a woke nut.
6 0 Reply

striketheroot → A. Miller
a month ago
MONEY CONTROLS HARVARD and who controls money?
7 0 Reply

lanainutahdesert → striketheroot
a month ago
The National Security State brought to you by the National Security Act of 1947.
2 0 Reply

Madcows
a month ago
Harvard, like most universities, is not interested in the Truth, with the exception that they actively work to suppress it.

It is long passed time for the people of this nation to separate themselves from the Marxists. Time to form new universities. A new medical system. A new banking system. A new media. Let woke destroy itself.
22 1 Reply

trmlogan
a month ago
Kudos to him for standing up to Harvard! Hopefully, he will continue to research & learn more about how the system has totally failed us! On to functional medicine!!
10 0 Reply

Stuff Happens
a month ago
Every formerly trusted institution is in on it. We're literally surrounded by filthy rats .
8 0 Reply

Voyt Regnal
a month ago edited
Another proof that nothing has changed. Pathetic 😦 and outrageous 😤
At least here are his columns:
https://brownstone.org/auth...
8 0 Reply

DeMaynerd
a month ago
I appreciate not only Kulldorff, but all the other professors, scientists, doctors, nurses, etc., who tried to not only stand against the falsehoods shoved down the throats of the world but stood firm even to the point of leaving or being dismissed by their employers.
Would love to see many who purposely pushed the lies not only be fined and put in prison but their bank accounts, investment accounts and pension monies be taken from them to help those who were damaged, those who died needlessly etc. There isn't enough money that can pay for the harm, but it would be a positive step to stop people from committing crime believing they can get away with it.
Oh, and to be clear this would include government employees like Fauci as well as Birx (who disappeared early, like the rat she is, before things became a lot clearly as to what those so-called vaccines were about).
7 0 Reply

Ted Kuntz
a month ago
What else would one expect from Harvard. They are a captured agency and serve their masters rather than the truth. Dr. Kulldorff gave them credibility that they don't deserve. Their loss and the gain of another institution that honours academic freedom, true science, and free speech.
6 0 Reply

mcwinaz
a month ago
Dr. Kulldorff - you deserve better than Harvard U. Actually, I'm quite shocked you stayed on at this horrific institution for so long. This was meant to be. There is a more meaningful place waiting for you. Just wish YOU had pulled the plug on them instead.
6 0 Reply

EyesWideOpen → mcwinaz
a month ago
I read yesterday that he is now employed at Hillsdale College. Will be a much better fit for him.
4 0 Reply

Beatrice → EyesWideOpen
a month ago
Indeed. That's fantastic. I take courses from Hillsdale and love it.
1 0 Reply

striketheroot
a month ago
Oy! Seems that Harvard's priorities have become "financialized". They have to protect their wealthy donor's interests and sensitivities like when the "DEI president" had to be demoted for "wrong thought" regarding Palestinian protestors. Preserve the donors and endowment Uber Alles.
6 0 Reply

striketheroot → striketheroot
a month ago
BTW I am starting to boycott all sites that DO NOT ALLOW COMMENTS. I t means to me "they" are afraid of any "back talk" which would weaken their narrative and IMHO a sign of "hit and run" manipulation of people's opinions. If this continues unabated there will only be the OFFICIAL NARRATIVE. impacting our consciousness as if there is not enough overt and covert censorship already. Join Me and thank you DISQUS for your "light hand" .
6 0 Reply

Gary Brown
a month ago
"In a time of universal deceit - telling the truth is a revolutionary act." George Orwell

Great Barrington Declaration

As infectious disease epidemiologists and public health scientists we have grave concerns

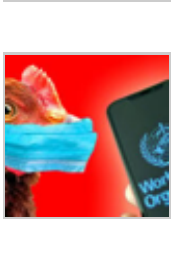
Donate Now

You make the difference.

Latest News

Did the WHO Water Down Its 'Pandemic Treaty'? Not Really, Experts Say

'A Dangerous Vaccine for a Nothing Disease': U.S. Stockpiling Bird Flu Vaccines



WHO, Media Drum Up Fear of Bird Flu Spreading to Humans

MORE NEWS

Latest Views

How What You Eat May Change Your Unborn Children's Genes — and Affect Their Health

'Corporate Greed' to Blame for Soaring Food Prices, FTC Report Says

Australia's Public Broadcaster Partners With Trusted News Initiative to 'Protect Public' From 'Misinformation'

MORE VIEWS

Get FREE News & Updates!

First Name..
Last Name..
Email..
SIGN UP

Get Text Alerts

Sign up for breaking news from The Defender

123-456-7890

REQUIRED. Phone number must be in a standard 10-digit format: 1234567890 or 123-456-7890

As infectious disease epidemiologists and public health scientists we have grave concerns about the damaging physical and mental health impacts of the prevailing COVID-19 policies, and recommend an approach we call Focused Protection.

https://gbdeclaration.org/#...

5 0 Reply

Beatrice → Gary Brown
a month ago

" Focused Protection"...yep, I carry one in my purse.

2 0 Reply

TheOrneryNurse
a month ago

Massachusetts medical facilities, colleges and universities have been culled of their best and brightest by mandates. #NoAmnesty

5 0 Reply

Frederick Lee
a month ago

So, the question is: Did Harvard make a mistake by hiring Dr. Kulldorff, or Did Harvard make a mistake by firing Dr. Kulldorff?
The opposite of group think is independent thought, a worthy position to have on this issue. Anyone snobbish enough to think that a vaccine is better than natural immunity should explain why they don't get boosters everyday. In most cases, natural immunity is a contraindication for the vaccine.
The evil empire is going to drag this out until everyone is up in arms against everyone. Mentally, physically, etc. That is the objective of their grand plan. So, please do not bear arms, but do protest and resist peacefully, and the plans of the most evil ones will be subverted.

5 0 Reply

GarySummers
a month ago

"COVID Vaccines: "Great Barrington Declaration" Now Signed By Almost 60,000 Scientists And Physicians" https://gbdeclaration.org/v...

The Great Barrington Declaration, launched by a group of scientists in October 2020, has now amassed over 870,000 signatures including 60,000 physicians and scientists. The declaration was started by three high university professors and scientists; Harvard Professor Martin Kulldorff, Oxford Professor Sunetra Gupta, and Stanford School of Medicine Professor Jay Bhattacharya.

All three recommended an alternative approach to COVID-19 in what was called the Great Barrington Declaration due to their opposition to lockdowns and mass vaccination side effects.

"'The model presented by the Great Barrington Declaration was to isolate and care for the vulnerable in society while leaving everyone else to get on with their lives.'"

4 0 Reply

Sharon
a month ago

With this action, Harvard has shown their true colors.

4 0 Reply

Drummer
a month ago

Pluck Harvard and toss it in a vat of oil...

4 0 Reply

GarySummers
a month ago

"Authors of the Great Barrington Declaration "SMEARED BY FAUCI" interviewed by Jimmy Dore"
"Jimmy is still successfully walking that tightrope and keeping his YouTube channel for now."

3 0 Reply

Dr. Robert C Dickson → GarySummers
a month ago

Just watched the whole video. Very progressive at the time. Was it early 2022?

0 0 Reply

r2bzjudge
a month ago

"The university last week dropped it's Covid-19 mandatefor students."

Harvard should never have had a mandate. There had been no long term studies. It had not been proven that the shots were safe.

"His tweets contradicting CDC policy that people with natural immunity must be vaccinated were flagged by the Virality Project, a government front group, and censored by Twitter (now X)."

It was the CDC, not Kuldorff who was on the fringe. Natural infection produced antibodies. The shot was not double protection, as one was already protected, naturally. The CDC's interest was that of wanting to rack up more sales for the pharma companies, which demonstrates a lack of concern for anyone's health, considering the risk from taking the shot.

3 0 Reply

Beatrice → r2bzjudge
a month ago

I don't believe this plandemic was about profits. I'm sure there was a much more nefarious agenda and the global governments colluded with Pfizer to assist in forwarding their agenda of centralized control while providing them the opportunity to profit. Same way GWB colluded with Pfizer to drug Americans into complacency after the tower incidents. Then he also drugged the children with his No Child Left Behind scheme. It's all so evil. Truly evil.

The WHO is in the process of erecting a global treaty that puts them in charge of all of us. G-d help us. All I can say is that each of us better align with our maker very soon because we need all the divine assistance we can get right now in order to avoid living under total tyranny.

5 0 Reply

Gary Brown → Beatrice
a month ago

You might be more correct than you realize Beatrice. I do have this big clue you will not get from the media. This was the largest transfer of wealth in all of history.

Billionaires got richer during Covid lockdown.

see more

3 0 Reply

Beatrice → Gary Brown
a month ago

I know that the billionaires enriched themselves but keep in mind that they were only able to enrich themselves by controlling us and the economy during the plandemic. This was not their central goal but more of a side benefit. The war in Ukraine gave them an excuse to print more money which caused even further inflation but inflation was on the agenda prior to it. The plandemic forced people to shop at places like amazon, interrupting the supply chain leading to higher prices and creating higher demand which resulted in higher prices, closing small business competition and independence, job losses that forced people into service industry jobs/side hustles like delivery, landscaping and cleaning, forcing people into bankruptcy losing their homes unable to pay rent or mortgage while artificially increasing property values, taxes and mortgage rates to prevent people from being able to purchase a home. In the meantime, investors like Blackrock swooped in and gobbled up all the real estate that they plan to use to build neighborhoods or smart cities. Biden also passed a law

see more

4 0 Reply

Gary Brown → Beatrice
a month ago edited

Thanks for your time once again Beatrice. This is a global organization we must keep tabs on.

Jul 30, 2023 World Government Summit 2023 Highlights

2 0 Reply

Load more comments

Subscribe Privacy Do Not Sell My Data

THE DEFENDER IS AVAILABLE IN:

ENGLISH SPANISH PORTUGUESE GERMAN ITALIAN FRENCH

Children's Health Defense

Children's Health Defense® is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. Our mission is to end childhood health epidemics by working aggressively to eliminate harmful exposures, hold those responsible accountable and establish safeguards to prevent future harm. We fight corruption, mass surveillance and censorship that put profits before people as well as advocate for worldwide rights to health freedom and bodily autonomy.

TAKE ACTION

DONATE FREE SIGN-UP BECOME A MEMBER

Donations are tax deductible to the full extent of the law. EIN #26-0388604

Children's Health Defense • Legal Disclaimer • Terms of Use • Privacy Policy • Donate • About Us • Work for CHD • Contact • Social • Membership Login & FAQ

© 2016 - 2024 Children's Health Defense® • All Rights Reserved • Sitemap